MONTHLY MEETING OF TOWN COUNCIL

Council Refuses to Take Any Action on the New Fire Apparatus. Leave it for their Successors. Other Business Transacted.

The town council met Tuesday evening in its regular December session with the following members present: Messrs. Trostle, Butt, Shealer, Stock, Codori, Arnor and Tawney.

A communication was received from Harry Geiselman asking that pavements be ordered on East Middle street at the properties leading to his own and that a crossing be placed at the Third Street intersection. The secretary was instructed to send notices ordering that the walks be put in condition for winter, and the highway committee was instructed to lay a temporary crossing.

A motion was passed ordering the laying of pavements on the south side of East Middle street extended from Liberty street to the first property having pavement.

A communication was received from the Board of Health asking for the appropriation of $50, finishing the original sum allowed for the work of the year. It was granted.

The treasurer reported the receipt of $107.92 from the Auditor General of the State for the borough's share of fire insurance tax and council followed the usual custom of ordering the same turned over to the fire company.

A bill of $11.88 for the replacement of hitching posts at the G. W. Weaver and Son store was allowed. The six wooden posts were removed by the highway committee before the battle anniversary and never replaced until the firm took in hand the matter and put in four permanent iron posts.

Charles E. Stahle, representing the citizens' committee appointed to solicit funds for the purchase of new fire apparatus, asked that council take steps to secure more definite information on the condition of the present engine and the feasibility of erecting a standpipe. Council stated that they would take no action, leaving all matters pertaining to the purchasing of new apparatus in the hands of the incoming council. Mr. Stahle also called attention to the unanimous action of the citizens' committee, asking that hot water be kept in the fire engine constantly. Mr. Tawney, of the property committee, reported that he had already ordered the connection with the gas heater to be made so that this could be done.

Council adjourned to meet on Monday, December 29, when the business of the past fiscal year will be closed.

FIRST TEST OF LICENSE TAGS

Number on Gettysburg Hunter's License Tag Leads to his Identification as a Trespasser. Fine and Costs Imposed at Hearing.

The first test of the value of the new hunters' license law in Adams County was made on Tuesday when Walter Carter of Gettysburg was given a hearing on a charge of trespassing on the land of Daniel Crouse in Cumberland township.

Carter, it seems, went onto the Crouse land in spite of the fact that it was thoroughly posted with trespass warnings. Mr. Crouse did not know him but saw the number of his license on the tag he wore and at once looked up the record which showed that license number 2749 was held by Carter. The serving of the warrant by Constable Shealer followed.

At the hearing before Squire Harnish, County Treasurer Spangler produced his records to show how Carter was identified and witnesses were present to tell of his having been on the Crouse land. A fine of $2 and costs was imposed.

Carter had done little, if any, harm to Mr. Crouse's property but, some time previous, dogs belonging to hunters had killed four of his geese and he was not particularly glad to have other hunters on his farm, and he took the opportunity of making an example out of young Carter.

The interest of the case lay in its clear demonstration of how easy it is to identify unwelcome hunters by simply taking their tag number and then consulting the county records, a proceeding that could not be followed before the present law came into effect.

COSTELLO ARRESTED

"Movie" Hero Got Drunk and Beat Up Wife.

Although not known personally to any local people, the following from the New York World, will be of interest here because the two principals are well known to all devotees of the movies:

Without the aid of a film-making machine, Maurice Costello, the leading man in the Vitagraph Company, who is known all the world over by moving picture enthusiasts, acted in a sketch of his own yesterday, before Magistrate Geismar in the Coney Island court, where he was charged with assaulting his wife. Before the playlet proceeded far Mrs. Costello had the charge changed to disorderly conduct.

Mrs. Costello, who is a blonde and very pretty, was accompanied to court by her two daughters. The latter were weeping, and there were tears in the mother's eyes also. In her affidavit Mrs. Costello said her husband came home early Monday morning, and without cause or justification, beat her about the body with his fists, knocked her down and then kicked her in the forehead.

When Magistrate Geismar asked the accused what he had to say, Costello shrugged his shoulders, looked at his two children and wept. It all looked like a moving picture play. Costello then said he was drunk at the time and did not know what he was doing. Mrs. Costello became sure she did not want him sent to prison.

"All I want Your Honor, is that my husband stop his excessive drinking," she said.

Magistrate Geismar suspended sentence and Costello was placed on probation.

The Costellos have been married eleven years.

FINE BANK BUILDING

County Bank Building Enlarged and Finely Remodeled.

The extensive improvements to the Farmers' Bank, of McSherrystown, have been completed, making the building one of the best equipped banking houses in the county.

The woodwork is dull-finished oak, the counting-room enclosure having a solid oak base with glass frames above the counter. There are three windows, with bronze wickets, for the cashier, teller and bookkeeper. The tables and desks are of oak and the floors are darkwood. In the lobby are two desks for the convenience of patrons.

The rooms are equipped with combination electric and gas fixtures of handsome design.

The big safe has been replaced with a burglar-proof vault, constructed of solid concrete, and re-enforced with expanded metal. The top and bottom are grated with railroad iron. The door frame is half-inch steel plate, fitted by the York Safe and Lock Co., with a triple-movement time-lock door. The front of the vault is imitation tile, and presents a handsome appearance.

In the rear of the building is the directors' room, which is comfortably and conveniently furnished. All of the appointments of the bank are modern in every particular, labor-saving cabinet devices having been installed for the expeditious handling of the business.

The bank was organized in March, 1903, with a capital of $50,000, and during the past ten years has accumulated a surplus and undivided profits of over $34,000, besides paying twelve semi-annual dividends of $1,000 each.

EXPENSIVE ARREST

Policeman Costs the W. M. $300 for Bad Arrest.

One officer has found that it is poor amusement for his company for him to put a man into a lockup with no cause. Edward Conneys, a policeman for the Western Maryland Railway, was taking a boy into the coop at Pen Mar when W. W. Winebrenner of Waynesboro, came along. He pitied the boy and said: "Don't put that lad in there, I'll pay his fine." With that the officer grabbed Winebrenner and locked him up. At the hearing before Squire Ferguson he acquitted Winebrenner. So the latter brought suit for false arrest against the Western Maryland Railway.

L. D. Syester appeared for him. The company did not care to go to trial on the facts and admitted it would pay Winebrenner $300 and he accepted it. So the case is settled.

COUNTY ACCIDENTS

One Man Drives into Post. Another Has Hand Hurt.

Joseph Wine, a farmer residing on the Boyer farm along the Hanover and Littlestown pike drove into a hitching post in McSherrystown one evening recently. As a result Mr. Wine and a lady who was with him were thrown to the street, and the vehicle damaged. Fortunately neither of the occupants was injured. Mr. Wine procured another buggy and returned home.

Last Thursday, when Harry Funt, of Arendtsville, was sawing wood, he had two fingers on his right hand badly cut with the circular saw. Dr. Leroy Merriman dressed the wounds.

The residents of the upper end of McSherrystown were aroused from their slumbers about 3:30 o'clock Monday morning by the loud calling and weeping of a woman seemingly in great distress. Upon investigation an old colored woman, formerly of Dover, but then on a visit to the family of Charles Lloyd Fuller, was found helpless on the sidewalk. Apparently the aged lady had suffered a partial stroke of paralysis and was also apparently deranged. She was assisted to the house and a physician called who furnished medical aid. On Monday morning she was placed on a car and sent to the York County Almshouse.

CHIHUAHUA IS FREE OF FEDERALS

Evacuated by Federals Who Faced Starvation.

ARE FLEEING TO BORDER

Tuxpan Reported Taken by Rebels and Siege of Mexico City Predicted in a Month.

El Paso, Tex., Dec. 3.—Hasty preparations are under way in the ranks of the rebels for the occupation of Chihuahua, the capital of the state of Chihuahua, which is reported to have been evacuated by the Federals because of threatened starvation.

Pointing out that of the important Federal strongholds in the north only Monterrey and Guaymas remain, General Francisco Villa, the rebel leader, at Juarez, said that Chihuahua would be made the base of aggressive activities southward.

Just when forces would be sent to pursue General Salvador Mercado, Huerta's military governor, who is reported to be fleeing to the United States border at Ojinaga with 2000 nearly famished soldiers, and General Orozco and Salazar, said to have taken to the mountains, Villa declined to say, but declared the rebel advance toward Mexico City would continue briskly.

"We will be shooting at the ramparts of Mexico City within a month," said Villa. "We are confident that when the people in the capital realize that we have captured almost all the north and are in sight of the city's gates they will voice their feelings, which they are now afraid to do, and will clamor for the downfall of the usurper. A mob in the capital can oust Huerta in a day."

With 3500 rebels and sixteen field pieces advanced as far as Carrizal, ninety miles south of Juarez on the way to Chihuahua, Villa remained to communicate with General Venustiano Carranza before he personally proceeds south. At Chihuahua he expects to join General Chao and other rebel leaders, and with a combined force of 8000 men proceed toward Zacatecas, the first important city south of Torreon. Other rebel forces, Villa said, are to proceed along the west coast toward Guadalupe.

At Carrizal, ninety miles south of Juarez, nearly 4000 men of General Villa's rebel army are awaiting their chief before moving toward Chihuahua City. From Juarez to Carrizal not a Federal was seen by the rebels.

Near Rancheria the rebels came on the wreckage of two Federal troop trains which had crashed head-on, one carrying defeated Federals from La Mesa, the other bringing reinforcements to them.

In the wreckage were several wounded men and many dead. General Maclovio Huerta, commanding the rebels, wired to Villa that he had given assistance to the wounded Federals and had buried the dead. Parts of the wrecked trains had caught fire after the collision, and wounded Federals said that many soldiers had been burned to death.

Cornel John Medina, chief of staff to General Villa, is in the El Paso county jail, charged with bringing stolen property to the value of $50 into the state. He was arrested when he came to El Paso.

TUXPAN'S FALL REPORTED

Important Oil Port Said to Have Been Captured by Rebels.

Mexico City, Mex., Dec. 3.—A private dispatch received here said that Tuxpan, an important port on the east coast and the key to the oil fields, had been taken by insurgents under General Cando Aguilar after a sharp fight.

Tuxpan is the distributing center for the oil produced by the Pearson syndicate, of which Lord Cowdray is the head. It has extensive contracts with the government of Mexico, the National railway system and the British government.

With practically all of northern Mexico in the possession of the rebels and the Constitutionalists holding important ports on both coasts, Mexico City may soon be menaced.

Lacking money to run his government, and his army threatened with mutiny and his coasts lined with foreign ships which at any moment may establish a blockade, Huerta is confronted by three great perils.

CHARLES BECKER.

Hopes For New Trial Based on Testimony Given by Schepps.

Photos by American Press Association.

On the decision by the court of appeal in the Becker case rests the fate of the condemned murderer. And on the confidence placed in the testimony to be given by Sam Schepps, Jack Rose's lawyer, will in a large measure depend whether or not a new trial is to be granted. The district attorney does not place much faith in the new story by Schepps. Becker is shown in the large picture, and below is Schepps.

EGGS AT 25 CENTS, PLAN OF FARMERS

Propose to Chicago Boycotters to Sell Consumers Direct.

Chicago, Dec. 3.—Illinois farmers extended the right hand of co-operation to the women of Chicago who have taken up the cudgels against high-priced storage eggs and proposed to the boycotters what they believe is a permanent solution of the question.

"We are organized and are willing to sell directly to the housewives of Chicago if they will only insure us a steady market," was the substance of the message sent to the women by delegates who are attending the annual meeting of the Illinois Farmers' Institute.

The farmers are planning to establish cold storage plants in connection with their creameries, and instead of selling their spring surplus of eggs to the cold storage men they propose to store them. Then if they can establish direct connections with organizations of consumers and be sure of a steady market they can do out the product at 25 cents a dozen and have a good margin of profit.

Egg prices wavered as the boycott spread to many other cities in the country. Two large Chicago firms announced that markets would be opened in various parts of the city and eggs would be offered for 31 cents a dozen. The retail price predominating in Chicago was 48 cents.

Dispatches from Detroit, St. Paul, Kansas City, Baltimore, Washington and a dozen other large cities told of club women who would not buy eggs until the price dropped at least three cents a dozen.

Federal District Attorney Wilkerson has begun planning for a sweeping grand jury investigation of charges against men who own stored eggs in Chicago, with a view to bringing criminal proceedings. The district attorney has promised to bring about the prosecution of members of the Chicago butter and egg board as members of a trust in restraint of trade before the end of the week.

In Both Branches of Congress.

Washington, Dec. 3.—Steps already have been taken by the Democratic leaders to carry out the recommendation made by President Wilson in his annual message that nominees for the presidency hereafter be chosen through direct primaries and without the intervention of nominating conventions. Bills are now in course of preparation and will be introduced in the house and senate within a few days.

The appearance of the presidential primary idea in the president's address was a complete surprise to the leaders of all parties in Washington, and aroused more interest and comment than any other feature of the president's annual utterance. This subject will immediately assume an important place in the legislative program for the session just beginning.

Furthermore the prominence which the president has given to this issue will open up collateral questions that are bound to give a decided political tinge to the proceedings of the third session of the Sixty-third congress. The proposal to elect the president and vice president by direct vote without the intervention of the college of electors will come up, and so also will the principle advocated in the Democratic platform of limiting the presidency to a single term. Mr. Wilson ignored the latter proposal in his message.

It already is apparent that the house will pass a presidential primary law such as the president desires at this session. The president's reference to it in his address was widely applauded by the Democrats and drew expressions of enthusiasm also from Republicans and Progressives.

In fact the Roosevelt followers are wearing very broad smiles. They are confident that the colonel will run away with the Republican nomination in any system of direct primaries, and also they were pointing out that Mr. Wilson had stolen the colonel's own thunder on this subject.

A few members of congress expressed disapproval of the proposed plan on the ground that it might be found impossible to devise a scheme in harmony with the constitution.

Representative Rucker, of Missouri, chairman of the committee on election of president, vice president and members of congress, which will have jurisdiction of the proposed legislation, announced that he will call his committee together within a few days to frame a bill in accordance with the president's views. His committee will report such a measure early in the new year.

HE DIDN'T KNOW BRYAN

Capitol Doorkeeper Tried to Bar Secretary of State From Gallery.

Washington, Dec. 3.—William J. Bryan has been a candidate for the presidency three times and he now occupies the distinguished office of secretary of state. Nevertheless he was unknown to a Democratic doorkeeper employed in the capitol.

Mr. Bryan came to the capitol to hear President Wilson read his annual message to congress. He had ascended to the gallery floor and had started for his seat when a burly doorkeeper demanded his credentials.

The secretary of state smiled and was about to continue on his way, when the doorkeeper made it plain that unless he could show that he had a right to a seat he would have to be off. Bystanders identified the secretary of state, the doorkeeper mumbled an apology and Mr. Bryan passed on.

A REAL PRESENT FOR CHRISTMAS

CHRISTMAS DAY had dawned as clear and sparkling as all such days should. To be sure, in the sunny southland there was no snow, and the children had to content themselves with a visit to Santa Claus in a very up to date aeroplane, but this did not matter. Even the humble cabin home of Thomas Jefferson had not been passed by, and the delighted faces of the little colored children testified that the dear saint's gifts had exceeded their wildest expectations.

Now came the most important question of the day. Everybody knows that Christmas dinner is very different from any other meal and must be planned for accordingly. But it happened that these small brothers and sisters of Thomas Jefferson, who was not very big himself, must be left to his care today, while his mammy went to the big house and helped get ready for the company. Thomas Jefferson was allowed to go along with his mammy, for he was to bring back a basket filled with dinner for himself and the others. So he walked with her very happily.

At the house pretty Miss Clarissa saw that the basket was filled.

Thomas Jefferson fairly staggered under the weight of his basket when he at last turned off to the woods.

As he went he heard Miss Clarissa's sweet voice ring out in a Christmas carol and looking back, caught sight of her seated at the piano beneath a great bunch of holly and mistletoe.

These were the words he heard her sing: "And pray a glad some Christmas for all good Christian men."

It was an old carol, and Thomas Jefferson had never given much thought to the meaning of it before, but now as he walked along with so many good things the little fellow felt so grateful that he longed to share his blessings with some one less fortunate.

The woods seemed deserted, however, and Thomas Jefferson reached his cabin without meeting any one.

The children crowded about him eagerly, and all could hardly wait until he had opened the basket, spread the cloth and dished the dinner.

Thomas Jefferson was most particular as to how he did this. Each plate must contain an exact share of the good things. Just so much turkey, just so much sauce, just so many vegetables. All were beginning with great enjoyment when a knock came at the door.

"I'll see who 'tis," said Thomas Jefferson. "You children just go right along with yo' dinner."

It was a very ragged boy that stood in the doorway of the kitchen. Miserably poor and hungry he looked, and Thomas Jefferson's heart went out to him.

"If you would please give me a bit to eat," he said, "I will be very grateful. I have come a long way and have still a good way to go."

Thomas Jefferson hesitated. His mammy did not approve of giving to tramps. He had no right to give her food away. Then he thought of the dinner on his plate. That was his own without any doubt. He returned to the table, the words of the carol still ringing in his head. The children were too busy to notice that he took the plate from the table and returned with it empty. Then he set about helping the pudding. When one is very hungry and has one's mouth set for turkey and substantial good things, even delicious plum pudding does not quite satisfy. But Thomas Jefferson, remembering the carol, tried to imagine that he felt quite full. He did feel very glad to have helped some one on this glad day and so played with the new games all afternoon with a right good will.

But the amount of corn bread and bacon he devoured at supper time made his mammy exclaim, "Well, it do beat all, Thomas Jefferson, how much boys can eat after all that Christmas dinner!"

IN MEMORIAM

In sad but loving remembrance of Adam R. Bollinger, who departed life
December 2, 1912.

Farewell, farewell, my husband dear,
I have spent one sad and lonely year,
A few more years on earth to dwell,
And we shall all united be.

By his wife,
A father so dear, a father so kind,
Has gone and left us behind,
Cease to weep, for tears are in vain
For father dear is out of pain.

Hour by hour we saw you fade,
And slowly sink away,
Yet in our hearts we oft prayed
That you might longer stay.

The Christmas Table

SO many table favors of little bits and houses are to be had nowadays that it is not difficult to carry out the idea of a table to represent Christmas in an old fashioned village. This is, of course, only possible where a long table is concerned and sufficient space is available to group the set pieces effectively.

Where the dinner table is for a dozen or more covers, however, this can be arranged to make a very novel scheme.

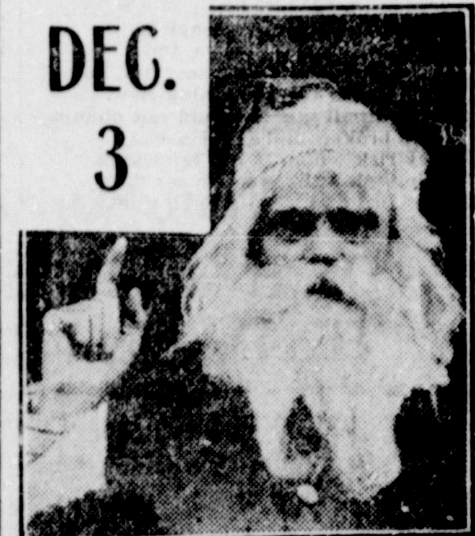

The first investment is that of a sufficient number of little snowbound cottages. Some of these can be altered easily enough so as to look a little different one from the other. In front of one a white pencil stick in whitened cork—diamond powdered—can, with a little ingenuity, be made to represent a sign-board to face the coaching inn. An advertisement in a paper frame will make a capital sign, sprinkled with "rime" to give the same effect of winter as the rest.

A sheet of looking glass for village pond and two or three tiny toy ducks should occupy the center of the table. Among the many set piece cracker decorations it is easy, too, to pick up lanterns to hold Christmas candles, doves, farm wagons and carts laden with crackers, which will add to the realism of the pantomime scene.

HERE THE UBIQUITOUS BUTTERFLY COMPLETES A SASH

One of the daintiest, most feminine of trimmings now favored is the butterfly. Of lace or ribbon it nods from the chic tailored hat; of sequins and net it completes the evening culture of trims the gown. In making a sash the temptation is very great to have a butterfly bow in front or back, as the new ribbons and silks with their bright Oriental hues are perfectly suited to butterflies.

An afternoon frock displaying the utmost simplicity and demureness in its long, straight lines is shown in 7620. The skirt has three broad tucks near the feet, each headed with several smaller tucks. These effectively break the lines of the skirt and serve as trimming. A surprise closing makes the sash attractive, and here the tucks are again used as a finish.

Flowered silk crepon is the material, showing a bright flower on an old blue ground. The sash is of crepe de Chine. This design may be copied in size 36 with six yards of thirty-six inch material.

Another design attractive in its simplicity is shown in 7711. The blouse is slightly draped, and there is an underblouse of net. Black satin trimmed with the tiny lace frilling and a butterfly sash was used in the illustration.

Size 36 requires for this model four and three-fourths yards of thirty-six inch material.

DAINTY NAPERY.
This is a Gift Within the Means of All and Useful to All.

The housewife's linen closet is never so full that she fails to appreciate a well selected gift of napery. Anything from tablecloths to doilies, from fancy sheets to pillowcases, will be welcomed.

Illustrated here is a hemstitched pillowcase, one of a set. They are all embroidered with the recipient's initial and are handmade of fine linen.

Centerpieces of heavy linen lace and muslin embroidery are easily made and are not expensive considering their ornamental effect. Exceedingly pretty centers can be evolved from cluny lace and heavy Irish linen, handworked with eyeletting.

In addition to the napery which goes upon the table, every housekeeper needs a number of scarfs or squares for the tops of her sideboard and serving stand. These are best made of heavy linen finished with hemstitching or drawn work or edged with button-holed scallops and hand embroidered in a fine design.

Bed sets, consisting of spread, pillow covers and valance, are always a welcome addition to the napery closet, and what color to select need not worry the donor, as the smart thing in these outfits is white scrim trimmed with eyelet embroidery or fillet insertion, edging and motif. A dozen of buckaback towels of extra length, bordered with an applied design in color, are useful. If you would carry joy to the housewife's heart send her some guest room towels in heavy linen with ends done in fourteenth century stitching.

These scroll and floral designs are most of all quaint when developed on a background of yellow darning, and as the centers of the flowers used with the scrolls are also in yellow stitching the work is extremely effective.

SIMPLE GIFTS FOR CHRISTMAS TIME.

A paperweight may be made of Christmas ribbon in the form of a bag filled with bird shot or lead and tied with narrow ribbon at the top.

For a small blotter cut half a dozen different colored blotters the size of a postal card, bore a hole through blotters and postal card at each end and tie together with Christmas ribbon. Choose a card with an appropriate greeting.

An attractive way to make a floral calendar is to take twelve sheets of sketching paper, cut into some neat design and paste on each leaf the floral symbols of each month. You can cut the flowers from any seed catalogue. The calendar leaf should be tastefully placed.

A gift quickly made is a decorated tablet, which is useful for recording messages. Buy any kind of a tablet and carefully remove the cover so that the cloth binding will not be spoiled. Make a new cover from bright red mounting board and decorate it with holly leaves cut from white paper colored green. Arrange the leaves in bunches or wreaths.

Coat hangers are always acceptable and are easily made attractive. One covered with holly leaves, with a bunch of frosted artificial holly leaves attached to the wire, is pretty.

A useful shirt waist bag may be made from a yard and three-fourths of white paper cambric. Use narrow tape for drawstring and cotton floss to work the initials of the owner.

A suitable present for a little girl is a tiny kimono. One can be made in an hour from any preferred material.

Writing Christmas "Thank You" Notes

Of course Santa Claus will bring you some note paper. Perhaps he will bring you some pretty correspondence cards with your initial in the corner. The first use to make of any such present is in writing "Thank you" notes to the persons who have sent you Christmas presents.

Don't let your mother or big sister take this pleasure away from you. Remember this is a part of the Christmas fun. If you make it work it will be your own fault. Commence thinking beforehand what you want to say in these neatly written "Thank you" notes. If you have something all thought out half the work is already done.

One of the first things you'd think of if you were speaking directly to the giver would be just what the present was. You wouldn't say to Cousin Kate, for instance, "Thank you for your present." You would be pretty sure to say just what the gift was. This is one of the big things to remember when you write your "Thank you" notes. Mention the present in each case.

This gives a real personal touch to your note and proves that you didn't get your presents mixed up. If you are one of the fortunate children who get ever so many presents be sure to keep track of the names of the givers. If there is a card attached don't take it off until you are sure you will remember just who gave you that particular sled or doll or music box.

If you are afraid of spoiling some sheets of your pretty new paper before you get the note nicely placed get some one to cut a couple of pieces of ordinary paper of just the same size as your Christmas note paper. With a little practice you will learn just how far up on the page to begin and about how far down on the page your name will come. No one expects a long letter just at Christmas time, but every one has a right to expect a pretty expressed, neatly written note of thanks when there is no chance for a "Thank you" in words.

A Prayer For the Children

Whenever children go to bed
And hang their stockings up with care
I pray that Santa Claus somehow
Will find the time to journey there.

I pray no little child will wake
At noon to find upon his cot
An empty stocking and to weep
Because old Santa Claus forgot.

For Santa Claus is not alone
The patron saint of rich, I'm sure,
But he is loved as dearly by
The little children of the poor.

And so I pray that he may find
The poorest wretch in the land
And that no little trusting child
May wake to weep and understand.

The Shoppers.
Oh, have you seen the shopping crush
Where all the bargains are?
With pallid face and solemn hush
Man views it from afar.

But woman braves the awful din
And does not lose her head,
And angels, so to speak, rush in
Where others fear to tread.

She carries bundles in each hand
And reath her elbows, too,
And with a smile so sweet and bland
Still looks for something new.

Our football giants would not chance
The broken limbs and necks
They risk whom in our ignorance
We style "the weaker sex."
—Washington Star.

The Chimney Climber.
Quoth Santa Claus, "I'm getting fat,
And, though I'm not a churl,
I think the person for this job
Would be the hipless girl."
—Harper's Weekly.

Old Custom Survives.
The ancient custom "horn dancing"
took place at Abbot Bromley, Burton-on-Trent, England, recently, when costumed dancers carrying reindeer horns which have been stored in the church for four centuries, and astride hobby-horses, went through the countryside to the strains of rag-time music.

BEAUTIES OF THE CAPITAL

James Bryce Writes About Some of the Peculiar Features Possessed by Washington.

It is impossible to live in Washington and not be struck by some peculiar features and some peculiar beauties which the city possesses. In the first place, its site has a great deal that is admirable and charming. There is rising ground inclosing on all sides a level space, and so making a beautiful amphitheater between hills that are rich with woods, writes James Bryce, late British ambassador, in National Geographic Magazine.

On the north, east and west sides of Washington, and to some extent on the south, or Virginia, side also, although there the difficulties of locomotion are greater on account of the heavy mud in the roads, the country is singularly charming, quite as beautiful as that which adjoins any of the great capital cities of Europe, except, of course, Constantinople, with its wonderful Bosphorus.

No European city has so noble a catarract in its vicinity as the Great Falls of the Potomac—a magnificent piece of scenery which you will, of course, always preserve.

Vienna has some picturesque country, hills and woods and rocks, within a distance of twenty-five or thirty miles. London also has very pleasing landscapes of a softer type within about that distance; but I know of no great city in Europe (except Constantinople) that has quite close, in its very environs, such beautiful scenery as has Washington in Rock Creek Park and in many of the woods that stretch along the Potomac on the north and also on the south side with the broad river in the center and richly wooded slopes descending boldly to it on each side.

Berlin stands in a sandy waste, perfectly flat, with here and there a swampy pond or lake, and a sluggish stream meanders through it. It has become, through the efforts of the government and its own citizens, an imposing city; but the environs can never be beautiful, because nature has been very ungracious.

St. Petersburg has a splendid water front facing its grand river, the Neva, with its vast rush of cold green water, covered with ice in winter and chilling the air and seeming to chill the landscape in summer. That, however, is the only beauty St. Petersburg has. The country is flat and in many places waterlogged, owing to numerous pools and swamps.

Paris, again, has some agreeable landscapes within reach, but nothing at all striking, nothing nearly so fine in the lines of its scenery as the hills that inclose the valley in which Washington lies, and no such charm of a still wild forest as Washington affords.

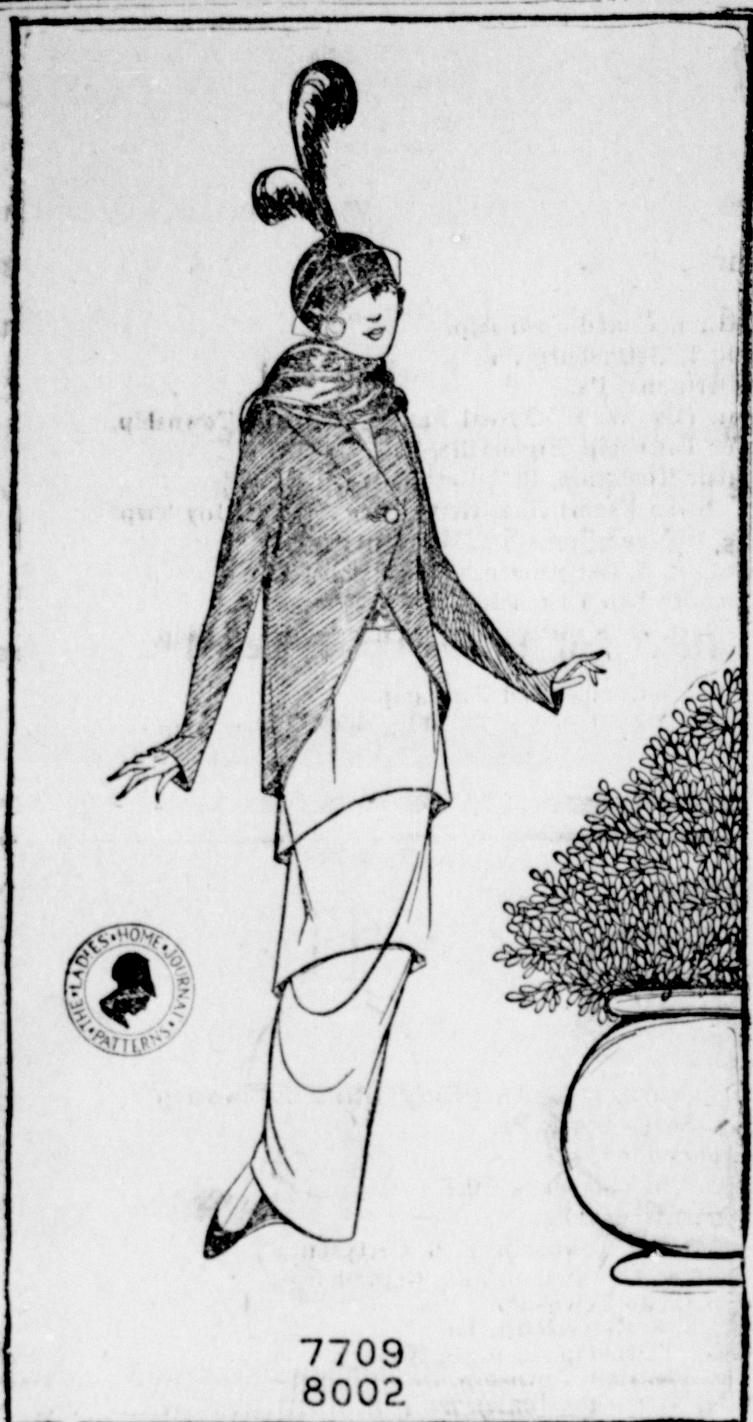

The same thing may be said of Madrid. It stands on a level, and the mountains are too distant to come effectively into the landscape, and its only water is a wretched little brook called the Manzanares.

Then there is our English London, which stands in a rather tame country. It is true that there are some charming bits of quiet and pretty rural scenery in Surrey and Sussex, within a distance of from twenty to thirty miles, and there are pleasing beech woods covering the chalky hills of Bucks. Yet nature has done nothing for London comparable to what she has done for Washington.

Perfect Stained Glass.
A Birmingham (Eng.) firm is stated to have a valuable invention on the treatment of stained glass windows which is being patented. As now constructed the picture on a stained glass window can only be seen from the inside of a building by daylight, but this invention makes it possible for the picture to be seen after dark, when no light is shining through it from the inside. Some windows already placed have proved satisfactory.

A FEW DEFT TOUCHES DISTINGUISH THE AUTUMN SUIT

It is very modish to button your cut-away coat loosely, with a single button, collar it with fur and sash or belt it with vivid silk or brocade. For those who prefer simplicity, however, the "single" button is sufficient.

Often the skirt accompanying these plain coats is tuniced, double or triple, making up in a degree for the plain coat, and often coat and skirt are of contrasting materials, as in this instance.

A smart collar and a drop-shoulder redeem this design from severity and aid in bringing out the new lines required this season. Dark blue serge is combined with a three tiered skirt of white cloth.

The skirt has a two-piece foundation, two tunic sections, and may be made with or without the smartly shaped girdle.

To make the coat (7709) in size 36 it will require 2 1/4 yards of 42 inch material. The skirt (8002) in size 24 requires 4 1/4 yards of 42 inch material. No. 7709—sizes 34 to 42. No. 8002—sizes 22 to 32. Each pattern 15 cents.

To obtain either pattern illustrated fill out this coupon and enclose 15 cents in stamps or coin. Be sure to state number of pattern and size, measuring over the fullest part of the bust. Address Pattern Department, care of this paper.

HANDKERCHIEF CASES.

These Will Be Gifts Prized by the Dainty Woman.

Handkerchiefs are standard gifts for Christmas. Quite the nicest way to present them is in a fancy box or case. A folding case of woven ribbon in white and pale green is illustrated here. It is lined with satin, and between the covers is a thick layer of wadding sprinkled with sweet powder. A wreath of roses made from satin ribbon ornaments the front of the case, while ribbon ties attached to the front hold it securely together when the handkerchiefs are placed inside. Ribbon straps may be attached to the inner face of the handkerchief case or satin pockets as handkerchief holders.

A handkerchief case that will lie flat, that will not take up much room, yet perhaps contain not only handkerchiefs, but many odds and ends of lace, ties, etc., as well, that otherwise might tumble about and secrete themselves at the bottom of a trunk, as they invariably do, just at the particular moment when they are most wanted, will be liked by the prospective traveler.

The cost of the handkerchief case is small, and when finished it will be durable and always look clean, as it can be washed as often as it becomes soiled—a desirable point in traveling accessories.

A very beautiful handkerchief box was covered with "fleur-de-lis". The top of the box was adorned with a bird and a branch of a tree. The foliage was embroidered in satin stitch, but the bird was worked very evenly in long and short stitch. This stitch is particularly effective where used for the plumage of a bird.

The embroidery was further enhanced by a darned background. It really gives a most exquisite effect. The entire surface of the linen is darned with small stitches in the softest shade of blue.

A spray of cherries makes a pleasing decoration for the top of one of these boxes. The background should be darned with ivory fillette.

For Fingermarks on Wallpaper.

Finger marks on wall paper will quickly disappear when rubbed with a stiff dough of flour and water.

GIFTS FOR WEE SMALL MAIDS.

Novelties In Good Looking Washable Dolls and Household Furniture.

First and foremost there is the doll, and new in this line are the dolls of washable material.

Then for Miss Dolly there is a cradle of enameled wicker, mounted on wooden rockers, unless her ladyship is in the grownup class, in which event a colonial bedstead of mahogany, accompanied with bureau to match, with glass knobs, would be more correct, or if something in plainer taste is desired a mission set is available.

Naturally with a doll and a vast wardrobe of lingerie gowns there is absolute need of a laundry table and ironing board, and incidentally if the gowns are to be kept spick and span there should be a wardrobe in which to keep them.

For the child who loves the sand pile there is a most interesting set of wooden sand toys, neatly packed into a wicker basket, with a watering can, bowl and shovel.

And surely if there are to be a doll house and furnishings there should be at least one if not more domestic pets. To select from, Santa Claus has funny little dachshunds of brown plush, just plain dogs of soft, curly, white plush, very real looking Irish terriers of plush, or it may be the little maid would prefer a cute little pink plush pig, a winsome little white woolly lamb, a rooster of many colored felt or a goose of plush cloth. Among the tempting gifts that will please the small maid of eight or ten is a work-bag that will be her very own. Such a receptacle is illustrated in a canvas bag decorated with cross stitch.

Wooden embroidery hoops covered with ribbon are passed through a casing and form the handles by which the bag may be carried. This makes a charming little bag for the little lady's sewing.

Algebra.

The science of algebra is said to have been the invention of Mohammed of Buziana about 850 A. D. The science was introduced into Spain by the Moors. The first treatise on the subject in any European language is believed to have been that by Luca Pacoli in 1494. The first English algebra was written by Robert Accorde, teacher of mathematics at Cambridge, about 1557. He was the first to use the sign of equality.—London Standard.

Christmas Dinners

MANY are the opportunities for culinary triumphs afforded by the Christmas dinner. For a week before the feast it is likely the housewife's kitchen will exude hints of the dainties that are to attest her skill on the memorable day. For the Christmas feast there may be all sorts of dainties, but that royal bird, the turkey, is the piece de resistance.

A typical Christmas dinner consists of a soup—say cream of celery—with oysters, roast turkey, onions, potatoes, cranberries, a lettuce salad, plum pudding, wafers, cheese, mince pie, ice cream, fruit cake, candy, nuts, raisins and coffee.

To prepare oyster cocktails make sauce by stirring together a tablespoonful of tomato ketchup, one-half tablespoonful of grated horseradish, one-half tablespoonful of Worcestershire sauce, a dash of tabasco sauce, a tea spoonful of lemon juice and salt to taste. Set in the ice until chilled through. Into chilled small glasses put five little oysters and pour in this sauce; then put the glass in the center of a plate of cracked ice.

Scald the turkey instead of dry picking it. Clean and wash the fowl nicely. Select a turkey of about fifteen or sixteen pounds. It takes from three to four hours to roast one of this size.

A very rich turkey requires to be offset with an acid jam or jelly, and cranberries supply about the cheapest and most satisfying relish of this sort.

Put the following ingredients into a large dish and mix them thoroughly together for the plum pudding: One pound of seeded raisins and the same amount each of suet, currants and flour; one-fourth pound of citron, one-fourth pound of preserved ginger, a grated nutmeg, a dessertspoonful of allspice, eight eggs, one pound of dark brown sugar and one wineglassful of brandy. Cook until done.

If you care to make your own mince meat here is a good recipe:

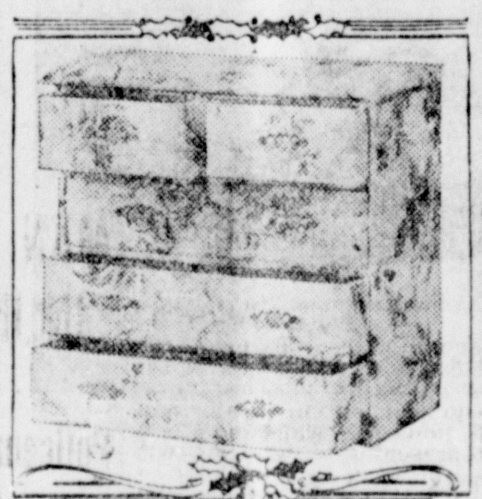

Two pounds of cooked lean beef chopped, two pounds of beef suet chop-

LINENS AND CRETONNES.

They Make Durable and Attractive Favors For the Yuletide Season.

Cretonne or linen may be made up into many attractive gifts. Boxes covered with it are not only handsome but useful Christmas tokens. Ordinary pasteboard boxes may be covered with the material and lined with a plain fabric to match the color in the pattern of the cretonne, or the boxes may be cut up and put together again to form any odd or pretty shapes which the maker may devise. The miniature cabinet illustrated here was made in that way. The separate pieces in this case were covered with the material and then stitched together to form drawers, while a large flat box was taken apart, covered and then joined to make the cabinet. The edges were finished with a narrow braid. Crystal buttons instead of the tiny brass handles may be used on the drawers if more convenient. This may be used as a trinket box.

An ordinary cardboard collar box may be turned into a thing of real beauty if it is covered with linen. It then becomes a delightfully artistic box for a man's collars. The cardboard "flaps" must be taken off the lid, and these will not be required again. Now the box itself must be carefully taken to pieces. Each piece must be covered with linen previously embroidered in ribbon work and the inner sides lined with satin. When you have covered and lined each piece of cardboard they must each be neatly stitched together to form the box. The box can be finished off round its edges with a narrow silk cord.

Many men appreciate the gift of a little pocket pin cushion, and delightful ones may be made of heart shaped pieces of cardboard, size about 2 1/2 by 2 inches. The pin cushion should be covered with satin, upon which little pines and a motto are worked.

FOR MILADY'S PURSE.

Beaded Bags Make Attractive and Handsome Holiday Remembrances.

The beaded bag shown here is in gray and silver mounted on a silver frame. Beaded effects are very popular, and bags of this sort make acceptable tokens for women of all ages.

Beaded bags, with white background squared off with gold and silver beads, and with a rose of green and red at the intersections of the gold and silver lines, have gilt clasps.

Small silver mesh purses, with chased clasps, provided with a finger ring and a smaller ring so that they can be worn on a chain, are shown with silver tassels at the three points of the triangular shaped lower edge.

In needlework beads used in place of French knots give a very up to date touch to a design. They may be used as centers or as filling for petals. In the latter case a cord outlining is often seen. For the table padded dollies covered with glass beads are preferred to all other kinds by women who like to combine beauty with utility.

The forefinger ring is supposed to be excessively oriental, and the more huge the ring the more one's hand resembles—it is presumed—the hand of a maharajah or an Indian princess. These forefinger rings are usually set with one large cabochon stone or a single pearl surrounded by smaller stones.

Of course a genuine pearl large enough to form the center of such a ring would be worth a maharajah's ransom, but no stigma attaches itself to the imitation pearl these days, and some of these near pearls are really marvelous in their color and luster. Such a pearl, set in a ring of small diamonds or rubies, makes a beautiful ring.

Appreciation.

Japanese Toweling For Christmas Gifts

NUMEROUS attractive Christmas things may be made from Japanese toweling, a novel material, which costs about 75 cents to $1.25 for a piece of ten yards. This narrow, coarse, white cotton crumpled goods is printed at intervals with the two toned designs, showing single sprays of wistaria—Pujyama by moonlight, a few scattered maple leaves, flying birds, shaggy chrysanthemums and similar designs.

A bolt or two may be easily converted into presents. A farseeing matron bought the toweling and made it up into tea sets, the crosspieces forming the cloth proper and the dozen small napkins. She fastened the two strips together with a coarse blue floss, then marked the napkins with long, angular Japanese letters, one above the other, with a dash beneath. The marking in blue was done in a corner where the white background predominated. One of her sets, she is sure, will be enjoyed next summer by a hostess who has a veranda furnished in blue and white. Another is to be sent to a young bride in whose simple little dining room blue and white china is used.

This toweling has also been used for a nursery set. A spread of the white cotton crumpled is bordered with the toweling, and dresser cover and curtains are made to match. This Japanese material is to appear in a set for an invalid's breakfast tray. The oval cloth shaped to fit the tray, is buttonholed, and it has the napkins to match. A set of fruit napkins made of the blue and white crumpled will be another Christmas remembrance. The toweling luncheoners perfectly, and fruit stands do not show. A child would enjoy having a half dozen of the marked napkins for her "very own" to use in her school lunch box.

Laundry bags and bags for the table napery to hang in the butler's pantry made with the convenient hoop top are both pretty and practical.

Another gift that will not come amiss is a pair of hemstitched cash curtains for the small bathroom window.

THE AFTERMATH.

WE'VE done our little charity, we've been a little kind. We've called ourselves by no little names and boasted noble mind.

We've preached of the deserving poor and listened to their plea, And we are snug and satisfied and proud as proud can be.

"This Christmas we at least," we say, "were kind to some poor soul."

When the Christmas spirit gripped us—and we sacrificed a dole!

But harken, ye, my brothers all, and harken with a will: The poor are always with us, and they're broken hearted still.

They're living in their loneliness, they're living in their pain, And they're calling, calling, calling, and they ask your help again.

We gave them cheer at Christmas, then we made our little bow, But the winter chill is with them still, and who will help them now?

—Edmund Leamy in New York Times.

Afterward.

"Twas the day after Christmas, and all through the flat The air was as blue as the birds on a mat, For now that the bills for the presents had come Fa' 'cused' till he made all the bric-a-brac hum."

—Judge.

A Christmas Tragedy.

Just a sprig of mistletoe Hanging in the hall; Just a maiden standing there, Pouting lips, coquettish air. Wife, coming down the stairs, Catches hubby—! ? ? ? !

That's all.

Musical Plant.

In Nubia there is a strange plant called "isofar." When the wind blows it sends forth musical sounds closely resembling those of a flute. The natives, who are ignorant, superstitious people, regard the plant with dread. There is no reason for this, for the plant gives forth its unusual sounds because of certain thorns at its base, pierced with tiny holes by insects who search for the gum in the plant.

SUFFRAGISTS WARNDENOCRATS

Holds Them Responsible For Fate of Franchise Fight.

HOW THE LOBBYISTS WORK

Speaker Declares Unless Administration Grants Women the Ballot They Will Risk Losing Their Support.

Washington, Dec. 3. — Indicting that the Democratic party must amend the constitution and grant the ballot to all the women of the nation or risk losing the support of women who already have obtained the franchise, Miss Alice Paul, chairman of the congressional committee of the National Woman's Suffrage association, aroused applause at the forty-fifth annual convention, when she told of the work of lobbyists for woman suffrage in Washington in the past year.

Miss Paul, who has been called the chief of lobbyists for women suffragists, explained how every worker in the equal franchise movement who has visited Washington has been guided by the congressional committee to the capitol, where they made equal suffrage arguments before senators and representatives from their home states.

"More has been accomplished in creating favorable sentiment in congress by these personal appeals than can be estimated or explained in figures," declared Miss Paul.

Miss Paul said that one-sixth of the electoral college, one-fifth of the senate and one-seventh of the house is composed of men from states where women have the vote, and created enthusiasm by asking: "Can any political party disregard the great strength of the women voters?" She asserted that women already have gained so much strength that they need not appeal any longer, but may demand their rights.

The report of the constitutional revision committee, headed by Mrs. Carey Chapman Catt, attracted great attention, and a vigorous fight is promised when the matter comes to a vote.

The new constitution provides that each affiliated organization will have to pay into the national association's treasury at least five per cent of the smaller body's total expenditures. In addition to this, if there be any deficit in the national treasury, it will be apportioned among the affiliated societies and they will have to levy a special assessment to meet it.

The uncertainty as to just how big such a deficit may be is what is causing the chief discussion, and some state leaders say that a heavy assessment from the national association would disrupt their own organization.

When opposition developed in committee Mrs. Catt, who also is president of the International Suffrage Alliance, declared that she would vote against the whole plan "if a single affiliated society were to be driven out by the change."

The speakers who will appear before the house rules committee today to ask that it recommend the appointment of a house committee on equal suffrage were announced as follows:

Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, president of the National association; Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the International Suffrage association; Miss Jane Addams, of Hull House, Chicago; Mrs. C. C. Bradford, Miss Helen Gardner, Miss Mary Beard and Representative John E. Baker, of California.

The anti-suffragists will hold a hearing tomorrow, and on Friday suffragists will make a rebuttal, the speakers being Mrs. Catherine Waugh McCullough and Miss Alice Stone Blackwell.

SEA CRUSHES VESSEL

Crew Hanged in Rigging of Doomed Ship and Watchers' Pray.

Aberdeen, Wash., Dec. 3.—Within plain view of praying watchers from the shore, a four-masted schooner is pounding to pieces just off Gray's Harbor jetty.

Five of the crew have been rescued, but the waves are washing over the rest as they hang in the rigging. A terrific storm broke over the coast and the vessel was driven on the jetty by the gale.

As far as could be told from the shore, the vessel was either the Es-pada or the Balboa. It is believed the men on board are doomed to death.

Immense damage has been done along the coast. The jetty north of Aberdeen has been swept away. It cost $1,000,000.

Clayton and Henry to Introduce Bills to Curb Big Business.

© 1913, by American Press Association.

Laws that would curb the trusts and reduce the existing high prices of the necessities of life are expected to occupy a great deal of time in the new session of congress which has convened. Representative Clayton will take the initiative in framing bills regarded as essential in connection with the Sherman law. It is expected that the anti-trust act will be amended so as to make it more easily understood and facilitate its administration and enforcement. As chairman of the house judiciary committee he will immediately take up the task. Representative Henry (below) will introduce an amendment to this act, providing jail terms for violators. He believes this would easily solve the problem of control for the great corporations.

CHARGED WITH ACCEPTING A BRIBE

Former New York Police Captain Indicted.

New York, Dec. 3. — Dominick G. Reilly, until three weeks ago a captain of police, was arrested on a warrant charging him with having accepted a bribe from former Detective Alexander Cohen, confessed agent of the wireless wire tappers. Reilly was held in $2000 bail for trial.

The district attorney's office feels that a strong case has been built up against Reilly and that indictments against at least one other police official are sure to be returned this week. The specific allegation in the indictment is that on or about Oct. 20, 1913, Reilly accepted $1000 from Alexander Cohen, go-between for the wire tappers, and that this money was part of the money fraudulently obtained by the wire tapping gang from Simon H. Jones, of Pittsburgh.

Jones was freed out of $20,000 by the wire tappers on Oct. 17, 1913, and it is charged that the wire tappers had arranged to pay Cohen 10 per cent of whatever they got from Jones, part of which was to go to the police for not interfering. It is alleged that George H. McLean, one of the wire tappers, handed $2000 to Cohen, who kept half of it for himself and passed the rest to Reilly, in accordance with an agreement.

GOES COOLLY TO HIS DOOM

Youthful Murderer, Calm While Sister and Mother Faint, Denies Crime. Sunbury, Pa., Dec. 3. — Displaying more bravery than any other murderer ever hanged here, even after his mother and sister, Mrs. Katherine Mac-loney, of Philadelphia, and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Albert Nye, of Pittsburgh, had fainted in his cell, Fred Nye paid the death penalty for the killing of Harry E. Miller, of Sunbury, by hanging in the Northumberland county jail yard.

The boy cheered his mother and relatives after they were revived and told Sheriff Glass that he would not cause any trouble. He went to his death in a talkative mood, denied committing the crime and blamed it on his companion, David Everitt. He never flinched until the drop was made. Soon after he was pronounced dead.

Nye was twenty years old. He was convicted of murdering Miller on Feb. 12, 1912, in Miller's poolroom in Sunbury. The motive was robbery. Nye and Everitt got $3, some chewing gum and the contents of a slot machine.

Nye was soon captured, and his companion was arrested at Hazleton. On a train from Hazleton to Mount Carmel Everitt is said to have confessed, clearing himself of the actual murder. A jury believed his tale and he was sentenced to twelve years for manslaughter.

MAN KILLED, 3 HURT IN INDIANAPOLIS RIOT

Policemen Riding on Ice Wagon Fire Into Crowd.

Indianapolis, Dec. 3.—As the result of a clash in the teamster's and chauffeurs' strike, Claud Lewis, a negro, aged nineteen years, was killed and four men were wounded, one probably fatally, when six special police officers riding on an ice wagon shot into a crowd that tried to stop the wagon in Indiana avenue.

The four injured are: J. H. Mason, negro barber, wound probably fatal; John Ashley, shot in left foot; Archie Smith, negro porter, shot in the left shoulder; Alexander Sedan, shot in neck, not serious.

The special officers were taken to the police station, but it was said they would be released as soon as they made a statement.

The wagon had stopped to unload ice at a saloon. A large crowd began booing and jeering at the six men on the wagon, who had been given police powers to protect the ice company's property during the strike.

After the ice had been unloaded the crowd tried to prevent the wagon moving down the avenue. Then the special officers opened fire and at the first volley Lewis, Mason, Smith and Sedan, who were in the front ranks of the crowd, fell. Ashley was almost half a block away when he was hit by a stray bullet.

WINS SENATE SEAT

Court Gives People's Party Man Majority For Maryland Legislature.

Snov Hill, Md., Dec. 3. — Quince Ashburn, candidate for the People's party for the state senate from Worcester county, has won his appeal to the circuit court to include the votes of the Stockton district in the total.

With these votes counted, Ashburn will be elected over Orlando Harrison, Democrat, by four votes. The decision of the court sustains the demand of Mr. Ashburn and orders the board of supervisors of elections, sitting as a board of canvassers, to receive and canvass the votes of the Eighth or Stockton district, which were thrown out when the votes were canvassed on the Thursday following the election.

It is announced that the case will be taken to the court of appeals.
